Team Rocket Tape Drawing

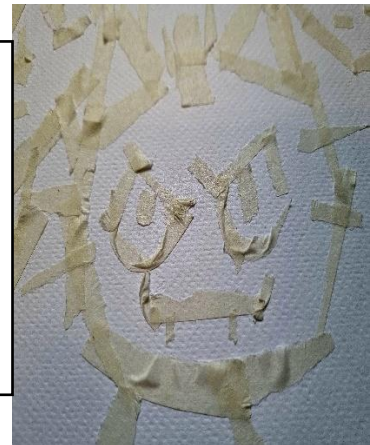

Grab thick white card stock or watercolour paper, masking tape, a device to access your digital image, watercolour paints, flat paint brush.

Then choose the digital image you want to use, we chose Team Rocket, for our Pride activity.

Take your time to peel the tape, and tear into smaller, thinner sections, then uses these like you would a pen/pencil to fill in where the contour lines would go.

Slowly build up your images, it's hard going, as there isn't a guiding line on the page to follow.

Once finished with the tape drawing, grab your watercolours and begin to paint the first background colours, we chose the pride rainbow, with the transgender and minority flags included.

Take time to layer different splashes of colours over the base colours, use your brush to splat, sprinkle, spray and flick colours over the top.

Leave to dry completely.

When dry peel back the tape to reveal the white outlines of your picture!! Remember to take your time, breath through the stressful moments and enjoy your wonderful artwork afterwards.
